Kia ora koutou,

Re: Raglan Beach Education trip

Thank you for your kind offer of help, which we gratefully accept.

Many of you have offered to take your vehicles. If this situation has changed and your vehicle is no longer available could you let me know urgently. If one of you has a six-seater vehicle this would transport all the parents together, otherwise we will need two parent vehicles. I suggest if you choose to travel with someone, please bring a koha of $5 to help cover the cost of petrol.

If you have any medical conditions that the lifeguards need to be aware of or medication that you require, please ensure that you have it with you and inform either myself or the lifeguards if you prefer. Your personal information will not be shared with anyone other than the lifeguards for the purposes of your safety and no record will be kept of it after the completion of the trip.

All children and adult helpers participating in the programme will need to bring:
Swimming togs, towel, warm clothes, sun block and a hat, morning tea, lunch and plenty to drink.
(A wetsuit is optional. If you burn easily, a rash top is recommended)
Please note that the BeachEd programme runs wet or fine, so if it is wet you will also need a change of clothes.

That's everything for now, we will see you bright and early (7:50am) this Friday 29th November.
We leave school at 8:15am.

If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to ask.

Ngaa mihi nui ki a koutou!
